KELOWNA GROWERS HALT APPLE TRAIN

U.S. INDUSTRY HAMPERED BY MANY STRIKES

Nearly 100,000 Men Idle Because of Disputes With Employers

TROUBLE FEARED IN COAL MINING AREAS

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (CP).—A total, mounting toward 100,000 strikers, hampered work in the coal, steel, automobile and silk industries of the United States today.

Ten thousand steel workers were idle along the West Virginia "pan-handle" as the Clarksville, Weirton, West Virginia, and the Steubenville, Ohio, plants of the Weirton Steel Company shut down because of a dispute between the company and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

George Dunn, president of the Steubenville local of the association, said the company forced men to work more than forty hours a week, in violation of the N.R.A. code.

Pittsburgh officials said they feared trouble if a third march of striking coal miners is directed against the Clariton, Pa., plant of the Carnegie Steel Company. More than 70,000 miners were away from the shafts, many of them spreading strike doctrine northward into Mercer and Venango counties.

TWO MEN BEATEN
Two employees of the Shamrock Coal Company were beaten by strikers in Fayette County, Penn., and two strikers were arrested.

Strikers of the Ford Motor Company plant at Edgewater, N.J., demanded a five-day week, seven-hour day and a $5 daily minimum wage.

Numerous other minor strikes were in effect.

Business Section Destroyed by Fire

CHAPLIN, Sask., Sept. 28 (CP).—Fanned by a strong southwest wind, fire swept through Chaplin's business section tonight, destroying eight buildings and causing loss estimated at $75,000.

Practically the entire business section of this town was wiped out in the blaze, which started in the Chaplin pool room and raged unchecked for an hour and a half.

TREASURY WILL DISCUSS DEBTS

Uncle Sam Making Question One of Business Rather Than Diplomacy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP).—An atmosphere of business instead of diplomacy will surround the war debt discussions that begin here next week with representatives of the British Government.

It was disclosed today they will be conducted by Arthur Acheson, under-secretary of the Treasury, and Frederick L. Loomis, an economic adviser of the State Department.

The British spokesman will be Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, who sailed yesterday from England.

THE EARLY POLICY
In putting the negotiations in the hands of the Treasury, the government returned to a policy followed early in the debt problem. Under President Wilson the debts were regarded as a Treasury matter.

More recently, under President Hoover and Secretary Stimson, the State Department handled the problem, and even in the early stages of the present administration this policy was followed with Raymond Moley, who recently resigned as assistant secretary of state, working on the debts with the President.

The conversations are expected to begin Friday, after the scheduled arrival of Leith-Ross and his companions, Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, and T. W. Bewley, a British Treasury expert.

BY FAR THE MOST
Great Britain has paid by far the largest sum on the debts to date, and up until last June 15, when she made a $10,000,000 token payment on an installment of $79,850,000, had met all payments in full.

The British have paid well over $20,000,000,000 on the debts, while all other debtors combined have paid only about $700,000,000.

YOUTH SERIOUSLY HURT
VANCOUVER, Sept. 28 (CP).—Lloyd Smith, nineteen-year-old son of the Hammond Furniture Company, is in serious condition in hospital, suffering from a fractured skull. He was pinned beneath a load of lumber which fell from a truck in the 1300 block, Venables Street. Firemen extricated the injured man.

Meet at Fort Garry Gate

FOR the first time in the history of the Hudson's Bay Company, the governor, deputy-governor and the chairman of the Canadian committee met in Winnipeg. Left to right: George W. Allan, K.C., chairman of the Canadian committee; P. Ashley Cooper, governor of the company, and Sir Alexander Murray, deputy-governor.

DRASTIC REDUCTION IS MADE IN VICTORIA ASSESSMENT ROLLS

Result of Revision Equivalent to Three-Mill Cut in Taxes, or $112,000 in Annual Levy—Decrease in Net Taxable Values Totals $2,508,465, Assessor Announces

SWEEEPING reductions in the assessments on land and improvements, equivalent to a three-mill cut in the tax rate, were announced yesterday by George Okell, city assessor. These reductions will affect nearly every property holder in the city, as the assessor has almost completed the entire revision of the city's tax rolls. Coming on top of the substantial cut in the assessments made in the 1933 roll, a reduction in taxes amounting to 4.5 mills will have been accomplished over a two-year period, exclusive of the half-mill reduction in the tax rate struck by the City Council this year.

The decrease in the net taxable assessment amounts to $2,508,465 on the 1934 assessments. In 1933 the net taxable assessment was $2,747,936, while the 1934 assessment is $54,970,471.

EXEMPTIONS CUT
Coupled with the reduction in taxable assessments is a substantial decrease in the assessment on tax-exempt properties. This cut amounts to $2,000,000. The assessed value of tax-exempt properties on the 1933 roll was $20,504,165, while the 1934 assessment is $19,998,265.

Total gross assessment on the 1933 rolls was $7,983,101, while the gross 1934 assessment is $7,496,736, or a gross reduction of $486,365. This is made up as follows on a comparative basis:

Gross land assessment, 1933, $31,190,178; for 1934, $28,160,031; reduction, $3,030,147; improvements, 1933, $46,702,925; for 1934, $46,808,705; increase, $105,780.

Exemptions: Land, 1933, $4,486,940; for 1934, $5,957,490; decrease, $1,470,550; improvements, 1933, $14,018,125; for 1934, $14,040,775; increase, $22,650.

Gross exemptions: 1933, $20,504,165; for 1934, $19,998,265; decrease, $505,900.

Commissioner Calls Parliament Buildings A Thriving Industry

Ex-Mayor Ansonb Appears Surprised—Full Taxation of Improvements Suggested to Condense Settlement—Also Complete Provincial Control of Education

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28 (CP).—British Columbia's Parliament Buildings constitute a thriving "industry" and are of great benefit to Victoria, declared A. D. Patterson, former member for Delta, and a member of the Royal Commission on Municipal Taxation.

Mr. Patterson's remark was made in the course of the commission's hearing in the courthouse this afternoon, when comparisons were being made of different British Columbia cities.

A BIG INDUSTRY
"Victoria has one of the biggest industries in the province," said Mr. Patterson. "I refer to the Parliament Buildings."

An industry? echoed Commissioner Herbert Ansonb, former mayor of Victoria.

"Well, it means a big payroll in the city," replied Commissioner Patterson.

"But I'm glad you describe it as an industry," retorted Mr. Ansonb. Taxation of improvements at 100 per cent of their value is favored by James Fairweather, who appeared before the commission.

TO RETARD DEVELOPMENT
Full taxation of improvements, said Mr. Fairweather, would prevent premature development of vacant property and consequent city expropriation and consequent city expropriation.

RUSSIA STILL REFUSING TO JOIN IN PACT

Sees No Advantage in Being Party to Wheat Restriction Agreement

NEGOTIATIONS WILL BE CARRIED ON

LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).—Russia again flatly refused today to be drawn into the world wheat agreement, despite an offer by Canada and the United States to let the Soviet Union share with them any possible extension during the next year of the limit now set for world exports.

The North American countries had already been promised by the other exporters that they could have any additional exports over the world limit, now set at 560,000,000, provided there were necessary and would not impair the price-lifting programme included in the agreement reached incident to the World Economic Conference sessions.

DEMAND MET
Canada and the United States met Russia's demand that she must have at least 75,000,000 bushels of the export quota—double her allotment—by offering her 8,000,000 more in available such an increase was found feasible.

The Russian delegate, Abraham Gourevitch, left the meeting at Canada House before its conclusion, with the assertion the position of his Government had not been changed.

"Why should we?" he asked. Later an official announcement said: "No definite conclusions have been reached," but that "further negotiations will be carried on between the Governments."

Russia's decision, made known after the closed meeting, meant at least the temporary breakdown of the negotiations.

The Governments were expected to take more direct hand in any further move to break the deadlock. It was learned authoritatively that representations of Soviet trade organizations in the United States may carry on the negotiations; probably at Washington.

It appeared certain there would be no further London sessions until November.

It was believed possible there may be committee sessions just before the meeting of the advisory commission late in November.

DISORDER IN CUBA GROWS

Workers Seize Match Factory—Bandits Sack Farmers' Homes

HAVANA, Sept. 28 (AP).—Renewed disorders flared in Matanzas Province today to plague the Grau San Martin Government as striking workers seized Yumuri match and cigarette factory at Matanzas City.

More trouble was reported at San Jose de los Remedios, where armed bandits were reported sacking farmers' homes. The mayor of the town sent out a call for troops.

ATTEMPT TO BURN CHURCH
In Colon, three Communist leaders were arrested following upon an attempt to burn a Roman Catholic church. Authorities said they had seized literature at Communist headquarters.

Strikers refused to let anyone enter the match company property at Matanzas. The seizure climaxed several days of disorders at U. J. plant, during which one girl worker was wounded and fourteen were stripped of their clothing by male workers.

The Government apparently was willing to let political negotiations go by the boards for the time being, as only reports of an impending military revolt in Camaguey Province and the problem of ousting the nearly 500 army and navy officers from the National Hotel here otherwise annoyed the officials.

TO GUARD SUGAR MILLS
Approximately 200 soldiers equipped with twenty-seven machine guns arrived at Camaguey from Havana. The Government said they were sent there to guard sugar mill properties.

KING PARDONS AFRICAN CHIEF

His Majesty Ends Sentence of Banishment Passed in Bechuanaland

LONDON, Sept. 28 (CP).—Chief Tshetedi, of the Bamangwato tribe, of Bechuanaland, has been pardoned by His Majesty from the sentence of banishment from the tribal territory, imposed by the acting High Commissioner, Admiral E. R. G. Evans, in the war zone.

The sentence was imposed on Tshetedi because a native court under his direction tried a white man on various charges and gave him a flogging, aroused intense interest in South Africa and the native protectorates, Tshetedi pleaded.

Following the sentence Tshetedi's mother made an impassioned appeal to the King himself for the reinstatement of the chief.

WILL BE REINSTATED
The Dominions' Office tonight officially announced that Tshetedi would be reinstated by the King's decision.

(Phineas Mackintosh, a white man, was flogged by natives after he had appeared before a native court.)

Tshetedi has expressed regret for what occurred and assured the High Commissioner of South Africa he would work in harmony and loyal co-operation with the Administration.

Engine Derailed By Fallen Tree

DUNCAN, Sept. 28 (CP).—Striking a tree which had been blown across the track by a wind, a Canadian National Railway freight engine was derailed two miles south of Deerhorne, near here, tonight. Engineer H. J. McLennan and the fireman, who was not given, escaped with a few bruises.

Determined Battle Waged to Prevent Cut-Rate Shipping

Lawyer Rushes Through Night to Kamloops to Seek Injunction to Halt Breach of Price Agreement While Orchardists Gather From All Sides to Enforce Demands

(Special to The Colonist)

KELOWNA, Sept. 28.—Enraged fruitgrowers, to the number of 500, tonight prevented a switch engine from removing six cars of bulk apples from the Belgo Co-operative packing house, and cut the electric light wires serving that establishment and the Rowcliffe packing house. Camping by huge bonfires surrounding the beleaguered packing houses, the determined growers maintained an all-night vigil. Police have been mobilized here, but at midnight there had been no clash between the force and the picketers.

While the growers camped about the packing establishments, vowing that seven cars billed to go out on an early-morning train should not move in defiance of the recent stabilization agreement for marketing of the fruit, Thomas G. Norris, K.C., was making a dash through the night to Kamloops to seek an injunction from Judge J. D. Swanson preventing the shipment. He is expected to return before daylight, and upon the outcome of his mission future action will be determined.

ARRESTED TO EFFECT RESCUE

Group of Communists Taken to Police Station After General Melee

MONTREAL, Sept. 28 (CP).—Described by police as the most serious anti-Communist demonstration in the history of Montreal, a crowd of 5,000 men tonight broke up a scheduled meeting of a group of Communists here. Violent fist-fighting broke out, but none was seriously injured.

The meeting was called for the Technocracy Educational Conference Hall, but no speeches could be delivered, the "anti" suddenly converging on the hall from all directions. In a few minutes there was a general melee on the streets.

Police drove into the heart of the struggle, while other officers threw a cordon around five blocks completely halting traffic. A squad of mounted men led the way to the centre, followed by officers on foot. Using their strength freely, the officers reached the hall and rushed them to headquarters.

MEETING HAT CELEBRATES
MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Sept. 28 (CP).—The whole city today celebrated, Medicine Hat today started celebrating its birthday. A mammoth parade, sporting events and reunion of old-timers, cowboys, displays and Indian events are included in the celebrations.

W. E. Haskins, president of the B.C.F.O.A., addressed the crowd, begging them to do nothing that would break the last against them, would break the last against them, would break the last against them.

WINS WITH AID OF LABOR VOTES

Censure Motion Defeated in Dail—De Valera's Charge Causes Uproar

DUBLIN, Sept. 28 (AP).—The De Valera Government, with the help of Labor votes, tonight gained its first victory in the Dail Eireann over the new United Ireland party on a censure motion, by a vote of 80 to 65.

The new party is headed by William T. Cosgrave, former President and political opponent of President Eamon de Valera.

The censure motion, introduced by Frank McDermott, another United party leader, attempted to criticize the Government for re-instituting the Public Safety Act.

UNJUST AND OFFENSIVE
The motion read: "That in the opinion of the Dail, the Government's use of the Constitution Act of 1931 has been unjust and offensive and is deserving of censure."

Under the Constitution Act of 1931, or the Public Safety Act, the military tribunal is empowered to hear a variety of cases and can inflict even the death penalty.

CAUSES EXCITEMENT
A temporary flurry of excitement was caused during the debate on the motion when the President, defending the application of the act, mentioned that the Government had definite information that Richard Mulcahy, former Minister of Defence, had been to Glasgow, Scotland, for a conversation with the British War Minister, recently.

During the uproar that followed Mulcahy heatedly denied the truth of the De Valera statement, and said it should be investigated by a committee of the Dail.

THE LAST SHIPMENT OF OKANAGAN FREESTONE PEACHES IS NOW TO HAND—DO NOT DELAY

London Central Exchange for Drug Products

LONDON (CP).—London has become the world centre for drugs. Bearing strange names, drugs and drug products pour into St. Katharine Docks from the ends of the earth. Recital of a few may come as a boon (or an added tribulation) to the crossword fan.

Agar from Kobe, Buchu leaves from Capetown, bitter aloes packed in monkey's skins, cardamoms from Ceylon, cuttlefish bone from Bombay, ergot from Oporto, galls from Madeira, and other ports, senega root from Vancouver and New York, squill from Algiers, strophanthus from Beira, tuba root from Singapore, turmeric from Madras and Bombay, peppers from Colombo, Alleppey, Cochín, Tellicherry, Saigon, Siam, and the Indian seas; oilbalm from Bombay, beeswax from most parts of the world, carnauba wax from Brazil.

Other odd names include chamomiles, colombo root, dragons blood, dog's paw, tragacanth, gum cacia and tuttorin.

Provincial Police were called in from surrounding posts in readiness for any trouble. Mr. J. W. Jones, Provincial Finance Minister, got on the telephone to Ottawa and sought to have Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, by powers which the provincial minister claimed he controlled, stop the shipment of the fruit.

APPEAL TO RAILWAYS

Similarly, appeals were made by telegraph to the head offices of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways urging that orders be issued to prevent the hauling of the fruit over those lines.

It was shortly before midnight that a switch engine, in its regular routine, called at the Belgo packing house to pick up the six carloads ready for shipment there. Picketeers warned across the tracks and when the engine came to a halt invaded the cab and insisted on the engineer withdrawing from the spur to the railway yards. This he did, after seeing the impossibility of carrying out his "pick-up" orders for the outgoing freight.

About this time, it is said, the light wires to the packing plants were cut.

SET BY BONFIRES

The 500 picketers, keeping warm in the glow of huge bonfires, sat down to besiege the plants, determined to prevent the movement. Women supporters carried coffee and sandwiches to the watchers, who expressed their determination to remain at their posts until no possibility remained of the apples being shipped.

Failure on the part of the courts to issue an injunction preventing the two packing houses from disposing of the apples they control in their own way, may precipitate real trouble, it is said. The growers have expressed their purpose of "fighting to a finish," and those who have studied the situation express fear of the ultimate outcome of an action that will bring the growers into conflict with the police.

AUSTRALIAN HAS BETTER TASTE

Prefers English Light Comedy and Music to American Crime Films

SYDNEY, N.S.W. (BUP).—Cecil Mason, director and general manager of an Australian film distributing company, has gone to Hollywood to discuss with his American principals the reasons for the recent success of English films, at the expense of American, in Australia.

Mr. Mason's view is that the Australian public enjoys the light comedy and musical films produced by English studios.

AMERICAN FARE

"American films have been made primarily for the American public," he remarked. "This applies especially to underworld and murder-mystery stories. My principles intend now to make pictures for the world market, and in these they will probably eliminate themes which can have a considerable interest only for the United States. The war is on between American and British studios. There will be, I think, no defeat for either side, and the competition will result in the production of more entertaining films."

UNPLEASANT ACCENTS

Mr. Mason said he would advise his principals against unpleasant American accents and also "West End" intonations. If its pictures were intended to please Australian audiences it was only in the last two years that English pictures had achieved their principal successes, and the one baffling problem of what the Australian public like best had been solved by its display of preference for light comedy and musical subjects.

DRASTIC REDUCTION IS MADE IN CITY ASSESSMENT ROLLS

Net taxable assessment: Land, 1932, $24,704,136; for 1934, $22,202,541; decrease, $2,501,595; improvements, 1932, $22,774,800; for 1934, $22,767,930; decrease, $6,870.

Total net taxable assessment, 1932, $57,478,936; for 1934, $54,970,471; decrease, $2,508,465.

LAND VALUES DOWN

From these figures it can readily be seen that practically the entire reduction in taxable assessments fall on land, where the benefit is 100 per cent when viewed in terms of tax payments. The reduction in the land assessment is equivalent to a $112,571 cut in the taxes based on this year's tax rate of five mills.

The tax saving on improvements is equivalent to $191, making the total saving $112,762, or approximately three mills.

The 1932 tax roll showed a reduction over the previous year of $1,841,044, made up of $539,444 on land and $1,301,600 on improvements. This was equivalent to a 1.5 mill reduction, so that the re-assessment of the city has brought about a 4.5 mill reduction to property holders.

WILL WELCOME STEADY MARKET

Efforts to Control U.S. Exchange Attract Attention in London

LONDON (CP).—The London stock market, so often disturbed by the gyrations of Wall Street, would welcome a calmer market in New York.

Agitation in the United States for control of the stock exchange has therefore attracted much attention in Throgmorton Street, but London brokers view definite proposals to that end dubiously.

The London Stock Exchange, hidden away in a plain, rambling triangular building, fronted with offices of brokers, banks and insurance companies, is one of the most independent organizations in the United Kingdom.

NARROWER FLUCTUATIONS

The fact that fluctuations in prices are on the whole much narrower than in New York, is attributed chiefly to long-established practice, to differences in temperament and tradition, rather than to the rather brief regulations of the London exchange, or to the supervision of its managers.

The London Stock Exchange's committee for general purposes, which corresponds to the Board of Governors of the New York market, leads a relatively placid existence.

It is impossible to estimate with any accuracy the volume of business done in the London exchange, for no official record is kept. Transactions are, to be sure, marked on the official list, and there are usually some 6,000 markings daily. But no indication is given of the size of the individual transactions—they may be for 100 shares or 10,000, and there is no fixed rule that transactions must be marked, and brokers say probably less than half of them are.

VOLUME ENORMOUS

United States banking representatives here say that the volume of business which London does is undoubtedly enormous; that its ability to absorb securities of almost any description is amazing.

The London market probably differs chiefly from that of New York by the much smaller public participation. No member of the exchange may have his office more than half a mile away from it, and when a private investor wishes to purchase securities, it is common for him to place his order through his bank or his solicitor.

Brokers' offices in London lack the busy board rooms of Wall Street, where customers gather to watch the quotations register automatically through the complex electrical quotation system taking up a whole side of the room.

Brokers in London transact their business in quiet suites of offices, receiving infrequent personal visits from their clients. No complete record of the day's quotations is kept. The only ticker is a slow machine, which periodically sends out some bid and asked quotations for leading securities in various categories, but unlike the New York ticker, makes no effort to give a full record of the course of trading.

RECONCILED AFTER WOUNDS EXCHANGED

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 28 (AP).—A duel over a personal incident ended in reconciliation today, but not until both principals had suffered several wounds.

Dr. Carlos M. Godoy, civil court judge's secretary, was wounded in the forehead and body, and Dr. Carlos D. Rojas, an attorney, on the hand and three times in the chest.

The duelists used "combat swords," double-edged and pointed.

JAPANESE WAR OFFICE FRANK

Says Strengthening of Russian Army Justifies Demand for Large Appropriations

TOKIO, Sept. 29 (AP).—In an openly frank official statement regarding peace-time Russo-Japanese relations, the War Office said today that strengthening of the Russian army was "making Japan unable to rest at ease concerning her defences in the direction of the Asiatic Continent."

The ostensible purpose of the War Office communique was to deny recent reports of a plan to re-establish four divisions of the Japanese army which were eliminated in 1923 and bring the total divisions in the army to twenty-one.

MILITARY COMPARISON

But the statement was mainly devoted to a military comparison of Japan and Russia in the three decades leading up to the present situation, which the army insists justifies estimates totaling 620,000,000 yen (about $129,000,000) demanded from the 1934 national budget.

"The Manchurian conflict naturally has strained Russo-Japanese relations," the communique stated. "Military preparations of the Soviet in the Far East have considerably increased. At the present time the Soviet has stationed there ten divisions, 300 tanks and several hundred airplanes, including scores of heavy bombers."

PROFESSOR CONWAY DIES
LONDON, Sept. 28 (AP).—Professor Robert Seymour Conway, distinguished British classicist, died here today, following a recent operation.

Has it got what YOU want in a gasoline?

ASK MR. DERMODY—

"Mileage? Why listen, I drove to Salem in my new Dodge and got 4 more miles per gallon on Super Shell."

ASK MR. HOCKING OF VICTORIA, B. C.
"Starting was my problem. Sputtering, trouble warming up my motor. Super Shell solved that—I wouldn't use another fuel if you gave it to me!"

ASK MR. PEACOCK OF LAGUNA BEACH, CALIF.
"I like power under the throttle. And anyone can get it from Super Shell."

ASK MR. MARTIN OF TACOMA, WASH.
"Super Shell has everything. Believe me, no more experimenting. I buy this gasoline from now on!"

Tank trucks rushing extra orders to Shell Stations. Motorists everywhere telling each other about Super Shell's performance.

Almost instantly this new-day gasoline swept to the front and won the praise of millions!

Why? In the first place the former 3¢ premium was dropped. Now you can get a real premium gasoline at no more than you'd pay for an ordinary, everyday fuel. Also, because this new Super Shell is higher in anti-knock than any non-premium gasoline. Better than ever in mileage, better in balance, in power, in speed, in all the qualities a perfect gasoline should have.

Try it. See what it means to drive a fuel without the waste parts; the sluggish and gassy ends are all eliminated.

Greater Efficiency Is Sought Through Merger

Advantages, Aims, and Objects of the Recently Organized Friendly Help Welfare Association Explained to Chamber of Commerce

The functions of the recently-organized Friendly Help Welfare Association in preventing overlapping both in the matter of investigation and relief, and the advantages of the merger in effecting greater efficiency with economy of effort and finance were comprehensively summarized in statements made at a meeting called by the new organization at the Chamber of Commerce last evening. Representatives of various societies and groups directly interested in the amalgamation composed the audience, and F. E. Winslow, chairman, presided. With him on the platform were Mayor Leeming, Miss Z. de Laog, member of the executive committee of the Vancouver Friendly Welfare Bureau; Miss Elizabeth Grubb, who will begin her duties as general secretary of the local organization about October 9; and Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, each of whom contributed something to the discussion.

In connection with the meeting an appeal was made for subscribers. Mr. Winslow stating that the immediate objective to finance the association to the end of 1934 was $25,000, of which approximately half would go directly into relief.

AMALGAMATION
The Friendly Help Welfare Association, it was explained at the outset, is an amalgamation of the Friendly Help Association, the Social Service League, the merger taking place as the result of recommendations made by Mrs. E. Cameron Parker, following her survey here a year ago, "the particular idea in merging charities being to render more efficient service at less overhead expense." And further, Mrs. Parker's recommendations had been carried out with the organization a year ago of the Central Exchange, details of which received considerable publicity just this week.

Mr. Winslow explained that the merger of the two societies should help to overcome the criticism of contributors to charities that too much overlapping was taking place; that is, that two or more societies contribute to a family, and that overlapping of investigations into the circumstances of families receiving assistance also takes place. An instance of the extent of the overlapping had actually taken place in the past was cited in the case of a family in the city known to have received relief from fourteen different agencies. The organization of the Central Exchange and the merger of the two major welfare organizations of the city would tend to diminish such abuses.

VOLUNTARY AID
The new Friendly Help Welfare Association is intended to be carried on entirely by voluntary aid, the directors recognizing that the city was carrying its full share of the load of relief and felt that private assistance should be asked for special relief that did not come within the city's obligations, such as children, clothing, milk for delicate children, medicines, etc. Subscribers were assured that charity would not be given indiscriminately, but that all cases applying for assistance would be thoroughly investigated by sympathetic trained and voluntary workers.

Mr. Winslow called attention to the Dominion-wide demand for funds shortly to be launched by the Federated Charities, which will have the assistance of the Governor-General, Premier R. B. Bennett, and Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King. Victoria could not join in this campaign, not having a Federated Charities organization of its own, but in order to be able to supply the needs of those requiring assistance in the community, it was felt the campaign for the Friendly Help Welfare Association funds should be launched at a still earlier date. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Dean Quinlan, Sir Frank Barnard, all of whom sent their regrets at being unable to attend last night's meeting, were sympathetic to the movement.

ENDORSES STATEMENT
Mayor Leeming endorsed Mr. Winslow's comment to the effect that the city was carrying all the load it could shoulder at the present time. The City Council had proposed for a diminution in the number of those requiring assistance, but the number of relief cases had increased rather than diminished, averaging 610 this year as compared with 602 last. Only in August had there been a falling off in the number of cases, fifty-eight less than the same month in 1932. The increase in transients had been 33 per cent this year. Contrary to expectations, the Government had not reduced the problem, and the consequence was that relief allowances today were playing havoc with the city budget. The fact that one family could, as cited by Mr. Winslow, receive help from fourteen different sources, pointed to the pressing necessity of the merger, which had just taken place. Easy charity broke down the morale of some people, and was unjust to the entire community.

Miss de Laog told of the place of the voluntary worker in family relief work, speaking from twenty years' experience in Vancouver social welfare organizations. When the paid worker was first brought in, she was slightly resentful that the voluntary workers should be superseded, but the paid worker was eventually welcomed by the voluntary workers as a really skilled person, and the two were now functioning happily together, each with its special place. The volunteers were doing much in household management, job scouting, distribution of clothing, etc., and also in the house-to-house canvassing for funds.

Miss de Laog advocated a "whispering campaign" as a means of getting people to talk about and be interested in the Friendly Help Welfare Association. She also urged a Provincial board of trustees to administer municipal sinking funds, except those of Vancouver and Victoria. This, he believed, would give more economical administration of funds, which could be handled more profitably as one large unit.

SCHOOL BOARD ABOLITION
Abolition of city and municipal school boards throughout the province was recommended by the Provincial Department of Education, assisted in larger cities by small, unpaid advisory committees nominated by municipal council.

NEEDS AN OVERHAUL
"It is felt that the whole system of education needs a radical overhauling," stated the organization's brief, presented by Col. O. H. Darrell. "The standard of education should be province-wide, and the reduced, it is believed, without penalizing the willing pupil."

Opinion of the exchange is that a Provincial system of education would provide better educational facilities at less cost. Another recommendation with regard to schools was that higher education should be made available to all, by provision of a liberal number of scholarships in cases where parents have small financial means.

HOUSE PARTY IS ARRANGED
Oxford Group Teams Will Gather at Empress Hotel From Oct. 19 to 23

Members of the Oxford Group Movement will hold a house party at the Empress Hotel, which will convene on Thursday, October 19, and close Monday, October 23. This gathering will be distinctive in that it will be the first international assemblage of organized teams of this movement to be held in the Pacific northwest area since the visiting Oxford Group team held the initial meetings here last Spring. Representatives will be present from Vancouver and the Mainland, from Up-Island points and also from the State of Washington. Visitors from abroad are not expected, the delegates being made up of residents on the Coast who have come under the influence of the movement. Among these will be Canadians and Americans who attended the international house party which was held at Oxford, England, in July, a convention, which is reported to have been remarkably successful.

SEATTLE MEETINGS
Several relatively small gatherings have been held during the Summer in Vancouver and neighborhood, and there was a successful conference at Seabeck, Wash., that drew delegates from this city and Vancouver. As a preparation for the Victoria assemblage, meetings will be held in Seattle during the previous week, October 10-14, in which the Vancouver team will participate.

The object of the house-party, which is the term used for this type of convention, is mutual conference by members of the movement, as well as to draw recruits to its ranks. Discussion on its principles, discipline, and mode will be interspersed with devotional times, including confessions and testimonies. Several public gatherings will be held, at which those whose lives have been changed will tell their experiences.

Local adherents are not prepared to state how many may be expected at the coming gathering. The success of the various house-parties that have been held, such as those at Qualicum Beach, Harrison Hot Springs and Seabeck, would seem to indicate a fairly large attendance here. There were about 500 persons at Seabeck, at which most of the international leaders were present, and it is not unlikely that something like that number may be expected for the Victoria gathering.

Other reports, however, indicated that the Government was planning some sort of a movement against the Government. The anti-Government plans, it was said, were sponsored by a secret society. There were rumors of a large secret army deposit on a ranch near the town of Florida, belonging to former Senator Ochoa Cuellar.

GIVEN UNTIL MIDNIGHT
Officers at the National Hotel had until midnight to leave the hotel for their homes or lose their status in the army and navy. They have been in the hotel since September 8, steadfastly refusing to recognize the legality of the Grau Government. They have demanded that Carlos Manuel de Cespedes be restored to the presidency.

MINOR DAMAGE REPORTED HERE

Storm Blows Down Trees and Injures Late Fruit Crops in Saanich

A storm, which at its height reached a velocity of forty-four miles an hour, struck Victoria about 1 a.m. yesterday, drove small boats to shelter, and did minor damage in fruit districts and to trees.

A massive oak was blown down on Yew Street, and it crashed into the house of C. L. Douglas, 3121 Yew Street. The chimney was swept away, gutters torn off and eaves of the roof damaged. No one was hurt. Many other trees were blown down, disrupting electric power and light services.

Fruit growers in Gordon Head and Keating reported considerable damage to late apple and other fruit crops.

The storm abated almost as suddenly as it arose, the wind dropping steadily during the early afternoon. The wind was preceded by a heavy downpour of rain, which continued spasmodically after the wind arrived. During the morning 45 of an inch of rain fell, bringing the total for the month so far to 2.79 inches, or 1.35 inches above average.

PROVINCIAL ECONOMIES

Few features of Premier Tolmie's speech to the Saanich electors will appeal more to the public generally than the detailed account he gave of the economies which have been effected in government during the past two years. That is a record to which he has just reason to refer with justifiable pride. Departmental outlays in these two years have been reduced by $7,420,518, in fact actual departmental votes have been reduced from $19,478,467 in 1931-1932 to $12,057,948 for the fiscal year 1933-1934.

In the various offices of the Government the following savings have been effected: Legislation, $33,653; Premier's Office, $2,911; Ministers Without Portfolios, $644; Department of Agriculture, $158,125; Attorney-General's Department, $205,592; Education, $1,543,794; Finance, $213,990; Fisheries, $10,969; Labor, $92,732; Lands, $751,585; Mines, $66,493; Provincial Secretary's Office, $1,842,044; Public Works, $1,789,000, and Railways, $11,740. These represent very substantial savings and they are in line with economies which have had to be practised in so many departments of human effort. It required a good deal of courage to bring about these economies since various interests were affected and naturally umbrage was caused. What has been done, however, has been in the interest of the taxpayers. Tax receipts showed substantial reductions owing to depressed conditions. The falling off in receipts to the Treasury necessitated the economies practised. Otherwise, impost would have had to be increased much more substantially. The record of the Provincial Government in respect to economies for the past two years has been in line with public opinion.

THE C.C.F. PLATFORM

During the period preceding the collapse of America's business boom, there was no economic doctrine more popular in the American business world than that which urged upon everyone the duty of spending to the limit in order to encourage the producer and so diminish unemployment. Thrift was sneered at and condemned as unsocial. The age-old theory that thrift is necessary in private and public affairs alike was derided. It is no great wonder that the high-pressure salesman of expensive luxuries should preach a doctrine so comfortable from his point of view. Nor is it any wonder that irresponsible politicians and public officials took advantage of the opportunity to squander public money on a great scale.

A great manufacturer, who is credited with a high degree of engineering skill and acumen, gave the weight of his approval to the idea that spending and not saving is the true policy for individuals and communities. True, Mr. Ford was straying incautiously outside the boundaries of his own proper sphere and venturing into the realm of economics, where he had no great right to be heard, but the public are only too ready to listen to the opinions of "successful" men upon any subject whatever. In Mr. Ford's view mortgaging the future was a highly laudable practice for individuals, and similarly public bodies with spending powers should spend freely rather than save. Many individuals have had bitter reason to regret the folly and extravagance of those days, and there are few taxpayers who have not suffered from the reckless borrowing and spendthrift zeal of school boards, rural and urban municipalities, provincial and national governments, during that hectic period.

The disastrous culmination of the experiment of spending recklessly and mortgaging the future seems to most people an object-lesson to be heeded by individuals and communities alike. There is, however, at least one man in Canada with public life who, if he has not been misapprehended in the press dispatches, has not yet learned the lesson. Mr. William Irvine, M.P., for Wetsakwin, is reported to have said at Courtenay that when wealth is produced, it is for use, not for saving. "Don't talk of saving," exclaims the Wetsakwin statesman, "because it labels you an ass." A statement of this kind, coming from a member of the Dominion Parliament, can hardly fail to fill the ordinary citizen with amazement. Surely this is the high-water mark of economic folly and lawless insolence.

Socialistic legislation in many countries has penalized thrift. There has been lavish expenditure of public funds to carry out grandiose social betterment experiments paid for by levying heavier and heavier burdens upon the taxpayer. Now, it would seem, thrift is not only to be penalized: It is to be denounced. The C.C.F. revolutionaries are not in office yet, but they tell the electors what to expect when they finally achieve power. The policy of commandeering and spending other people's money is openly and brazenly preached. Mr. Irvine's utterance is indeed a timely one and should attract wide attention.

As an accredited spokesman for the C.C.F. revolutionaries, he is able to announce openly that the policy of his party is a policy of raiding the public treasury and dissipating the public treasure. This is not a mere doubtful inference cunningly drawn from a vague or equivocal utterance. Mr. Irvine's statement is neither hypothetical nor disjunctive. There is no "if" in it and there is no suggestion of an alternative. It is categorical and final. Anyone who even talks of saving is, in Mr. Irvine's polished idiom, an ass, politically and economically. Mr. Irvine is to be congratulated. This dictum is in the authentic manner and tone of Mr. Woodworth himself, who, when he addresses the public, clothes himself with omniscience as with a garment, and assures his little party that he and they have a practical monopoly of political intelligence.

It is unnecessary to enter into a discussion of the relative merits of thrift and unthrift in public or private life. The people of this continent have surely had enough of mortgaging the future and unintelligent public extravagance to last them for a decade at least. Mr. Irvine's reckless and irresponsible language should have a sobering influence upon all who have hitherto been inclined to look with careless tolerance upon the vagaries of the C.C.F.

B.C. POWER CORPORATION

As might have been expected the annual financial statement of the British Columbia Power Corporation reflects the adverse business conditions that have been prevalent. The revenue from all departments for the last financial year shows a decrease of $1,531,287 as compared with the previous year. Transportation business has been particularly affected, the decline in this being 12.2 per cent from last year. There are, however, hopeful signs. During the past year 1,129 new consumers of electricity were added to the roll that the company serves and electrical and gas appliances valued at $603,000 were sold.

The gross revenue of the B.C. Power Corporation for the year ending June 30 last was $12,825,554. Expenses aggregated $4,036,260.30; bond interest, proportions of bond discount written off and preference dividends totalled $2,499,118.71; dividends on Class A shares for the year totalled $2,000,000. The net revenue for the year, after taxes and depreciation, and after providing for all fixed interest and dividend payments was $1,537,147 as compared with $2,009,339 for the previous year. The company has had to keep capital expenditures down to a minimum. The only extension of services were those warranted from an economic standpoint. The outlays on capital account amounted to $1,120,124 of which $709,539 was expended on a new gas plant.

The annual report has a healthy note in its anticipation of improved business conditions. Such an outlook is substantially justified by the activity in mining, particularly in the Bridge River district where the B.C. Power Corporation has large water power resources. Moreover, there is improvement in the lumber and shingle market, as well as signs observable throughout the Dominion and in other countries of improved basic conditions. An annual statement such as that of the B.C. Power Corporation is a reflex of business conditions, and, despite reduced revenues, the optimism that pervades the report is a sign of the times.

ST. FRANCIS OF ASSISI

Sunday is an anniversary which is observed throughout the world by all lovers of animals and is especially commemorated by the S.P.C.A. It marks the remembrance of St. Francis of Assisi who was born in 1182, died in 1226 and was canonized in 1228. Features of his pious career were the wonderful influence he exercised over animal and bird life, his great tenderness towards such life and the record he left in this respect as an inspiration to all who would protect dumb creation. As a reminder to humanity of the attitude he assumed it would be fitting that, for instance, allusions should be made in city churches on Sunday to the career of St. Francis in his relationship to birds and animals. He has left an imperishable record in this particular, a precedent which every-one endowed with humane feelings might well follow.

SHIPS AND THE SEA

Ships and the sea, these were his passions, these his visions in the night, and every day he paced the miles of busy wharves where lay the ships that had come in from many seas. A standing by their power he felt the breeze of ocean beat upon his brow, the spray blown on his lips, and heard far, far away, the surges round his fathers' beaches.

There was no port, no unimagined shore, No lonely island mothered by the sea, To which the ships of his imaginings Did not set sail, and so he wandered o'er The seas he had not seen, as fleet and free As fancy that had borne him on its wings.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

—Watkins.

We have a faint recollection of reading a book (if it was not a book it was an essay) dealing with the interesting subject of other worlds than ours. We believe astronomers are agreed that there are other worlds than ours, but we do not believe that astronomers are agreed that worlds other than ours are inhabited, or, if they are inhabited, that the inhabitants are endowed with either the physical, the mental or the spiritual characteristics of the inhabitants of our world. But there may be psychiatrists in some of the neighboring worlds, and if one of those experts were to come to this world and asked to give an opinion as to whether the people of this world were suffering from madness or a mild form of dementia, such as softening of the brain, we wonder what the judgment of that expert would be.

If you read the newspapers, which sometimes publish fragments of the truth, although the whole truth may not be in them, you will have no doubt that in the United States they are debating the subject of what must be done to suppress crime; you will further have noticed from the fragments of truth published in the papers that the President of the United States has issued a radio broadcast calling upon the people to rise in a mass and assist the Government in suppressing crime. In Canada at the present time there is a tremendous emotional agitation on the air and in some newspapers for the relief of criminals who have been convicted of crime. In Canada we manage to keep our criminals in the penitentiaries. In the United States the officers of the law appear to have a great deal of trouble in keeping criminals in the penitentiaries, although the lot of those criminals is made as pleasant as possible.

In the jails of the United States the inmates appear to have all the comforts of a home. In the penitentiaries of that country they have radio sets—possibly not one radio set in each cell—but the news of the day and the music of the jazz provide both instruction and entertainment for the strayed lambs. In the penitentiaries of the United States there are also baseball clubs and baseball leagues, and the ballyhoo of the fans may be heard as distinctly as in the neighborhood of the famous Polo Grounds. The players of Sing Sing even play a game or two every season with the Giants of New York, champions in the National League. In fact, the lot of the criminal in the flesh of the modern criminal is a mild form of restriction of personal liberty.

There is always something lacking to complete the sum of human happiness. The individual caught in the meshes of the law and in confinement has no worries about the ordinary affairs of life, such as when shall we eat or where shall we sleep. In that respect he occupies a preferred position in these days of depression, but his personal liberty is limited. We suppose it is because of this human attribute of panting after liberty that American wardens and officers have so much difficulty in keeping criminals after they get them.

One of the differences between the management of Canadian penitentiaries and the management of the United States penitentiaries is that after we convict criminals we keep them for the allotted terms of imprisonment. One of the differences between our administration of the law and their administration of the law is that our police discharge their difficult and unpleasant duties without assistance from ordinary citizens. From Washington recently a broadcast appeal was issued calling upon all citizens to come to the assistance of the police in suppressing crime. The fact that such an appeal should be considered necessary seems to indicate that there must be something rotten in the social state of the country.

That is a condition the people of Canada should be careful to avoid. It is a condition which may overtake us if we do no watch out. There is a surge of hysterical emotion sweeping across the border at the present time which may affect the administration of our penal institutions. An ex-convict has been writing a series of papers for one of the newspapers and some of the magazines purporting to describe the alleged inhuman treatment of inmates of one of the Canadian penitentiaries.

It is, of course, possible that some of the guards in our penal institutions are not as gentle as angels in their relations with prisoners; but it is not possible that an ex-convict may be a trifle biased in his judgment as to the conduct of guards and the nature of the conditions? We must assume that criminals have had a fair and impartial trial before being sentenced, but we are not going to assume that.

Slams and Salaams

By H. T. M.

I don't mind having my morocconal facade banged up by twenty or thirty straw-braided bolts certainly not—that doesn't cause me even the slightest consternation. But I hate like the devil having to shave 'round the damned things!

If Mildred would only let me grow a beard, then everything would be fine. But Mildred isn't that sort of a person. Says she, "I don't care if your mug develops into one omnipotent boil! You shave! There's nothing grayer than the sight of a man with a crop of half-cultivated black bristles. So, you shave! And don't leave whiskers dotting the back of your neck!"

RELIEF CAMP'S APPEAL

Sir—Will you allow me through the valuable lines of The Daily Colonist to ask the sportsmen of Victoria if they could help the boys of this camp in getting some football balls as they are very interested in getting a football team together, but have not the equipment to start.

P. SOUTH, W. MILLS, Otter Point Relief Camp, B.C., September 27, 1933.

INDEPENDENT CANDIDATES

Sir—In my letter on the above, printed September 21, the paragraph beginning "Cabala, cares" and ending with "motive power" should read as follows: "Cabala, cares and conspiracies would form a lobby and wire-pulling by outside vested interests would be the real motive power."

L. K. KENTISH-RANKIN, Royal Oak, Saanich, B.C., September 23, 1933.

CIVIC RELIEF

Sir—May I be allowed, sir, through your columns, to extend a cordial invitation to the unemployed committee of the Victoria City Council, namely, Aldermen Alex Peden (chairman), Alderman P. R. Brown, and His Worship Mayor David Leeming, to attend a public meeting, at which the writer will speak on "Administration of City Relief." This meeting will be held at the Sons of England Hall, Broad Street, at 8 p.m., September 29, 1933.

WALTER INWARD, 1448 Lang Street, Victoria, B.C., September 28, 1933.

"LET'S GO"

Sir—Through the medium of your paper, may we express to the public of Victoria and district the gratitude of the Canadian Scottish Regiment for its support in making the revue "Let's Go" such a splendid financial success.

When all accounts are received, the fund will be submitted to you for publication.

J. R. KINGHAM, Major, Chairman Revue Committee.

C.C.F. POLICIES

Sir—Many, fed up with the past, might vote for the C.C.F. if assured it was not a case of out of the frying pan into the fire. The C.C.F. would appreciate clear answers from accredited executive or leader to the following:

1. What is the definite platform in toto?
2. The practical plans for giving effect to it?
3. How much applies to provincial affairs?
4. Who is it intended shall head the C.C.F. Government in British Columbia if elected?
5. Have these leaders, or any of them, the experience and capacity to inspire confidence in the electorate, that they have executive ability for the big business and responsible life involved?
6. If the C.C.F. is not Communist, why are they supported by the latter?
7. What is to prevent a majority Communist support affecting C.C.F. policy and action?
8. What is to prevent wealth and industries transferring to other countries before the C.C.F. could function?
9. With depleted assets, how is it proposed to carry on?
10. What will take the place of the tax that has been abolished?
11. How offset the shock to conditions during the reconstruction period?

What part of the new Commonwealth does the C.C.F. subscribe? A. J. MORLEY, 1248 Montrose Avenue, Victoria, B.C., September 28, 1933.

RELIEF CAMP STATUS FAIR

Registered Voters in B.C. Camps Will Obtain Ballots; Others Will Not

Status of men in relief camps in regard to voting at the coming British Columbia election was made clear yesterday by provincial election officials. Bona fide residents of British Columbia who are registered voters on any existing list, may vote at the election, taking a declaration to the effect that they have that right.

Transients and others in the camps who have not qualified as residents or otherwise as voters in British Columbia do not appear on the lists any more than urban dwellers who have not lived in the province for a year or who are otherwise unqualified and not registered.

NOT DOMICILED

Amendments to the Provincial Elections Act at the last session provided that residence in a relief camp did not confer domiciliary rights in respect to the voters' list. For those in the camps who are registered voters, the absentee system of balloting will be used, with the actual ballots being issued at the camp in question. All so voting will be asked to make statutory declaration.

False declarations by those not entitled to vote are not anticipated. The penalty for perjury is onerous.

PRESSURE WILL BE INCREASED

Two Connections With Oak Bay To Be Eliminated by New Main

Oak Bay has been notified by the city that connection of its water distributing system with the new twenty-inch main has been authorized.

O. M. Irwin, water commissioner, yesterday explained that connection of the Oak Bay's system with this high pressure feeder main at the intersection of Foul Bay and Leighton Roads would eliminate two connections now existing and increase the pressure in the domestic supply mains in a large section of the city, north of the present twenty-inch main.

TO BE ELIMINATED

An eight-inch connection at Foul Bay Road and Fort Street, and a twelve-inch connection at Foul Bay Road and Pandora Avenue will be eliminated, he said. This means that water will not be withdrawn from these two points of the city's distribution system, and consequently the pressure automatically will be boosted in the areas fed by those two mains.

90 per cent of Oak Bay's supply comes through the eight and twelve-inch connections at present, and last year Oak Bay consumed 177,000,000 gallons of water, so that it can readily be seen what the advantage will be to the city in increasing pressure when this load is removed from the present feeder system.

HIGH LEVEL AREA

At the same time the high level area along the Rockland Avenue ridge, and beyond that point into the low level area of Fairfield to the south of the ridge will be given good pressure.

The two connections with Oak Bay at the city boundary on Fairfield Road and Crescent Avenue will still be maintained to give Oak Bay pressure in the Gonzales Heights district.

DEATH CLAIMS P. W. DEMPSTER

Former Saanich Police Commissioner Succumbs at Advanced Age

Former Saanich Police Commissioner Patrick William Dempster, aged seventy-five years, passed away Wednesday at the family residence, 430 Springfield Street. He was born in Campbelltown, Ontario, and had resided in Victoria for the past forty-four years.

He is survived by his widow, at home; two sons, Jack, at home; Ernest in Seattle, and three grandchildren, P. W. and J. T. Dempster, Victoria, and J. C. Dempster, in Port Angeles.

Mr. Dempster served on the Saanich Police Commission from January, 1912 to December, 1924. He was an active member of the I.O.O.F., being identified with Columbia Lodge, No. 2, and Colfax Lodge, No. 1. He was also an esteemed and respected member of Camosun Lodge, A.F. and A.M., and Eastern Star Lodge.

He was married fifty-one years ago last October 5.

The remains are resting at the Sands Mortuary, Ltd., and on Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, will be taken to the Oddfellows Hall, 1315 Douglas Street, where, at 2:30 o'clock, the funeral services will be conducted under the auspices of Columbia Lodge No. 2, I.O.O.F. The remains will be forwarded on the Saturday night boat to Vancouver for cremation.

VALVE TENDERS WILL BE CALLED

Oak Bay Prepares for Connection of Distribution System With New Water Main

In anticipation that the way has been cleared for connecting up the new city water main on Leighton Road, with the Oak Bay water system, tenders will be called for necessary valves to be used in this connection. Oak Bay council, last night, authorized the calling for tenders for these, looking for delivery if required, by March 1, 1934.

The opinion was expressed that the cost would not likely be less than $10,000.

On the subject of pipes, it was stated by the municipal engineer, that this could be got on shorter notice. The Oak Bay council is preparing the way for the completion, next year, in time to have a full supply of water for all purposes with the coming of dry weather, should the City of Victoria agree to go on with its end of the undertaking.

MEDICAL OFFICER ISSUES WARNING

Rubella Still Prevalent Among School Children, Dr. Richard Felton Reports

"Following the opening of our public schools, we have had reported a few cases both of scarlet fever and rubella (German measles)," Dr. Richard Felton, medical health officer, announced yesterday.

"This means that the infection which was fairly prevalent during April, May and June has not yet completely died out. Although the type of sickness in both these diseases is not generally severe, it must not be taken too lightly, as we have occasional patients with more severe symptoms," Dr. Felton said.

"The cases are usually found among school children, but adults are also affected at times. I would ask parents to be on the watch for the first appearance of the trouble."

ISOLATION OF PATIENTS
 "There is usually a fine, bright red, pin-point rash appearing on the body usually before the limbs. This is accompanied or preceded by a painful, red throat and coated tongue, with a variable degree of fever. The isolation of all such patients is now fixed at a minimum of three weeks, and contacts are quarantined according to circumstances."

"It will obviously facilitate our work if all such cases, even if only under suspicion, or not ill enough to warrant calling in the doctor, are reported to the Health Department. It is a point worth appreciating that the Health Department is here to give service and assistance to the community in such matters, and not merely to act in a policing capacity," he concluded.

By order of the Health Officer, D. DEWAR, Secretary.

Columbia Lodge, No. 2, I.O.O.F. FUNERAL NOTICE

Members of the other city lodges are respectfully invited to attend.

By order of the Noble Grand, MARY E. SOMMERVILLE, Noble Grand.

OFFICIALS OF SHUTTLE CLUB ARE ELECTED

Major W. H. Dobbin Chosen President of Victoria Garrison Badminton

Major W. H. Dobbin was chosen president of the Victoria Garrison Badminton Club at the annual meeting, held yesterday evening in the offices of Mason & Die-specker. Following the election of officers, the meeting discussed plans for the opening of the season and decided to commence tomorrow afternoon on their courts at the Armories at 2 o'clock. All arrangements were completed and a full turnout is expected.

The executive decided to enter three teams in the Lower Island Badminton League against one each in the first, second and third divisions. Last season, the Garrison team provided stern opposition to various clubs and won the championship when the schedule opens.

G. H. Howard was named vice-president and R. E. A. Die-specker was returned as secretary-treasurer. The executive committee will be as follows: Lieut. Leverin, Lieut. Dyer, Captain H. L. Robinson and Hugo Raymond. Two women members, Miss Helen Nicholson and Miss Florence Oates, will also work with the committee. Mrs. H. T. Mason will head the social committee, while auditors will be Bert Platt and W. Dunbar.

ALL-STARS TO FACE ALBIONS

Representative Cricket XI to Meet League Champions Tomorrow

Albions, champions of the Victoria and District Cricket League, will face the all-star team tomorrow afternoon at Beacon Hill Park when they take on an all-star aggregation from the remainder of the clubs at 1:30 o'clock. H. T. Lock, secretary of the league, announced the representative side yesterday, and has selected the strongest available. Players from the Inver, Victoria, Five O's and Wanderers will strive to lower the colors of the league winners.

The all-star eleven follows: H. T. Lock, Reg Wenman, Godfrey Wenman, Incog; F. Barker, J. Moffatt, J. F. Meredith, Victoria; Eric Quinton, F. Conley, P. Shurston, Five O's; E. Darcus and S. Moffatt, Jr., Wanderers. The services will be as follows: A. Atwell, Five O's; Nation, Wanderers; B. Tye, Incog; B. Edwards, Victoria.

TELEVISION TESTS BRINGING RESULTS

Developments of Utmost Importance Are Foreshadowed Following Experiments of B.B.C.

LONDON (BUP).—Developments of television of the utmost importance, though still of a purely experimental nature, are likely to be the subject of further tests by the British Broadcasting Corporation within a few months. These developments concern:

1. The use of the 7.75-metre ultra-short wave transmitter on Broadcasting House, hitherto used only in sound transmission.
2. Production of televised pictures of finer texture, which the image will be divided into 120 strips instead of the present thirty strips.
3. The use of the "cathode ray" tube, which simplifies the problem of keeping transmitter and receiver "in step" to the advantage of the resulting picture.

These developments, though at present only beginning, foreshadow most important and varied results. One is the perfection of secret signalling of immense value in war-time. Another is the effect on the present film industry. Inventions which will ultimately permit of the broadcasting of films will mean revolutionary competition with the cinema.

C.C.F. ATTACKED BY SPEAKER HERE

Leonard N. Tunning Says J. S. Woodsworth's Party Not in Interest of Workers

Charging that the C.C.F. was presenting a blind front for and was in the interests of capitalism, Leonard Norman Tunning, at a meeting last night of the Workers' and Farmers' United Front, in Stanley Hall, Victoria West, declared the C.C.F. programme was not drawn up in the interests of the workers. Thomas Moir, United Front candidate for honours in Victoria, also spoke.

"The so-called revolutionary programmes of the C.C.F. and other political parties are merely for the purpose of the workers," Mr. Tunning declared. "If we wait for the C.C.F. leaders to bring in socialism, we will starve to death. This movement is similar to Fascism. Socialism is only a dream for the future, and has been left out of our platform because it is impractical, jobs and freedom are more important," the speaker went on.

QUOTES KARL MARX

With many quotations from the works of Karl Marx, he told of repeated attempts by the workers to have the Federal Government introduce non-contributory unemployment insurance. On the grounds that J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, had been approached to champion the cause of non-contributory insurance on the floor of the Federal House, and refused to do so, Mr. Tunning declared him to be in league with leaders of capitalism.

"Responsibility of maintaining unemployed workers should rest with the capitalists, which has gained by the efforts of the workers," the speaker contended. Straight unemployment, he said, as the unemployed workers at present have no money to contribute, and thus could not look for assistance urgently needed.

"HAS" DICTATORSHIP

Mr. Moir told the gathering that it was clear to him that the C.C.F. had a dictatorship within its own ranks as T. Guy Sheppard, Victoria candidate for that party, at a recent meeting stated he could not answer certain questions without first referring them to the executive committee. The question asked at that time, the speaker said, was: "What is the C.C.F. prepared to do to get unemployed out of the present conditions?"

The United Front party is at present getting up a petition, demanding adequate relief in the city for the unemployed, and a 20 per cent immediate increase of 20 per cent. Mr. Moir said.

For Day and Evening

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28 (AP).—Frantic county health inspectors raced about town tonight seeking to locate 100 heads of cauliflower known to contain sufficient poison to kill persons eating them.

It was believed the consignment would be offered to the public tomorrow unless located by authorities.

KILLED WHEN CAR SKIDDED IN GRAVEL
OAMROSE, Alta., Sept. 28 (CP).—Roy Ritz, thirty-nine, Rosalind, farmer and oil agent, was killed, Tuesday night, when he lost control of his car on a gravel highway ten miles east of here. When the car went into the ditch he was hurled through the top fifty feet across the road. An inquest will be held later. Ritz leaves a widow and two children.

Won Fight With Infuriated Bull

FAWCETT, Alta., Sept. 28 (CP).—His collar bone fractured and badly bruised when attacked by an enraged bull, Denver Radloff succeeded in catching the ring in the animal's nose, and, despite his injuries, drove the bull for half a mile to a farm home, where he obtained aid.

The cauliflower, grown by an Inglewood truck farmer, had been sprayed with an "overdose" of insecticide and were allowed to be sent to the market and sold to seven peddlers for retailing.

It was believed the consignment would be offered to the public tomorrow unless located by authorities.

TAMPICO FEARING FURTHER DAMAGE

Observatory Warns of Continued Disturbance—Food Situation Critical as Floods Delay Relief

TAMPICO, Mexico, Sept. 28 (AP).—Residents of this city, striving to recover from Sunday's hurricane, tonight feared further damage, for tropical disturbances might continue until October 10.

Heavy rains caused a continued overflow of the Panuco and Tamez Rivers, which went out of their banks, Sunday.

The food situation continued critical. Floods delayed the relief train, and plans were made to bring in supplies by air if it should not be able to reach here. A steamship from Vera Cruz also was expected.

And now there's a glider to be worn under the lounging pyjama—or you can use it instead under your riding breeches.

He appealed to the chapter to support the endeavors of the disabled veterans. Mrs. A. N. Mount moved a vote of thanks to Major Okell at the close of his address.

Mrs. L. A. Genge, the regent, was in the chair, and there was a good attendance of members of primary chapters. Several appeals were received and passed on to the chapters for their consideration. Mrs. Martin Ellis (nee Parr), was appointed to represent Municipal Chapter on the Local Association of Girl Guides, instead of Miss Bessie Dinsdale, who will spend the winter in Kelowna. Mrs. H. K. Prior read the treasurer's report, and Miss A. B. Cooke, educational secretary, read several letters of appreciation from students who are bursary-holders.

"It was a nurse who told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was run-down, nervous, despondent and irregular. It did wonders in building me up. I feel strong and well now and I am so thankful for this remarkable change. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and to all girls and women who need such a medicine."—LA VERNE HUNT, Route No. 1, Box 22, Robbinsdale, Minnesota, U. S. A.

Good Health Means Charm and Happiness

SPARKING eyes and smiling lips tell their own story of health and vitality. Clear skin attracts. The healthy active girl is usually both happy and popular.

Perhaps you are not really ill and yet when the day's work is done you are too tired to enter into the good times that other women enjoy. For that extra energy you lack, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It tones up your general health. Gives you more pep—more charm.

"Before my first baby was born I was very ill and dizzy. My husband went to the drug store and bought a bottle of your Vegetable Compound and made me take it according to directions. It certainly built me up. The baby weighed eight pounds and we were both healthy. I have three children now and I am as young looking as the day I was married. It has helped my 17 year old sister too."—MRS. J. P. MERRAN, 405 Eleanore St., Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

College Girl to Wear Smart Clothes

Even the college freshman needs a bit of sophistication to overcome any lingering inferiority complex she may be harboring. She is thrilled to be in college, but doesn't want to look too much like a freshman, you know. At left she wears a brown ribbed velvet jacket with a brown and beige plaid skirt and beige silk blouse. A beige and brown checked suit, right, has a long topcoat and scarf.

The brown ribbed velvet jacket worn over the blouse and beige plaid skirt (left above) is an excellent choice for the college girl. The blouse is beige silk with a plaid belt. Brown hat and shoes complete this inexpensive suit.

Beige and brown is a favorite color combination this Autumn, and is shown again in the checked suit (right) with its long topcoat and scarf. Just the thing for the early football games before the fur coat is needed.

The treasurer gave a good financial report of receipts and disbursements. Much discussion and various tentative plans were made for the harvest supper, which will be held on Thursday, November 2, in Strawberry Vale Hall. Popular Couple United At Chemainus Wedding CHEMAINUS, Sept. 28.—At Calvary Baptist Church on Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m., Rev. E. M. Cook united in marriage Mary, eldest daughter of Mrs. Peter Wyllie, and Mr. Ernest Frank Howe, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howe, both of Chemainus. Friends of the bride had decorated the church with ivy and pink and white flowers, the bridal arch being of variegated ivy, pink and white chrysanthemums, and cosmos, from which was suspended a huge wedding bell.

The bride entered the church to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Mr. Sandland, and was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William Wyllie. Miss Cecilia Wyllie was bridesmaid, while Mr. Arthur Howe, brother of the groom, was best man.

During the signing of the register Mr. H. Robinson sang "Because." Mr. Bert Beaulieu and Mr. James Nimmo were ushers. The entire church and vestry were filled with the large crowd, both the bride and groom being popular members of old families here.

PRETTY BRIDESMAID
The bride's dress was of white willow crepe, cut on long straight lines, the full sleeves with applied lace inserts, the only trimming being a cluster crystal ornament and buckle. The wedding veil, reaching the floor, was worn with a wreath of orange blossoms, her shower bouquet being of pale pink roses and swansonia. The bridesmaid wore floor-length georgette in two shades of blue and lawn, with pale grey moire lace hat trimmed in bands of powder blue with pale pink inserts. She carried a bouquet of carnations and snapdragons in shades of pink.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, the bride and groom receiving congratulations as they stood under a beautiful arch of large pink and white asters, chrysanthemums, clematis and greenery, from which was suspended a wedding bell.

Mrs. Wyllie, the bride's mother, wore navy georgette, with a corsage bouquet of pale pink roses and double white sweet peas. Mrs. Howe, mother of the groom, wore pale mauve, with a corsage of violets.

A buffet luncheon was served, those assisting including members of the telephone staff here and Misses Lily and Violet Wyllie, Mrs. A. Syme, Mrs. Calahoun, Mrs. G. Cook and Mrs. Kerr. The bride's gift was a pair of gold cuff links, while the bridesmaid received a silver bracelet, the best man a pearl necklace, and the organist and soloist novelty Eversharp pencils.

The bride and groom left by motor for Up-Island points. They will live in Chemainus.

TO LIVE IN CHEMAINUS
The bride going-away costume was of chocolate brown corded silk, worn with a short brown full jacket, close-fitting brown felt hat and gloves, and she carried the groom's gift, a beautiful brown leather handbag, with silver mountings. The bride's gift to the groom was a pair of gold cuff links, while the bridesmaid received a silver bracelet, the best man a pearl necklace, and the organist and soloist novelty Eversharp pencils.

The bride and groom left by motor for Up-Island points. They will live in Chemainus.

Among the gifts were several cheques, and from the B.C. Telephone staff here, of which the bride was a member for several years, a beautiful mail clock.

The out-of-town guests included Mrs. and Miss Kerr, of Ladysmith; Mrs. and Mr. H. Howe, of Oreal; Central Lady Mr. Douglas Gillingham, of Victoria, and Mrs. C. Calahoun, of New Westminster.

To Speak Tonight On Early History

The first-comers by land and sea to the rock-bound coast of Vancouver Island and the west coast of the Mainland, as well as to the mountain regions of the Interior, will form a part of the illustrated lecture to be given this evening by Mr. John Hoole, Provincial Librarian and archivist, in St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, at 8:30 o'clock. The lecture will be under the auspices of H.M.S. Resolution Chapter, I.O.D.E., and the proceeds will be used to further the chapter's work in the Peace River country.

Many of the settlers in the more isolated sections of the province are living under similar conditions to those of the pioneers of British Columbia, and the stories and pictures of the fore-runners of these people should prove of absorbing interest.

Mr. Hoole has chosen as the title for his lecture, "Empire Building in the West," one which fittingly describes the pioneers of the present as well as those of a bygone day.

In accordance with the plan so successfully carried out last year, this lecture will be the opening one of a series to be given throughout the Winter on Empire topics. It was felt by the chapter that no more fitting subject could be chosen for the inaugural address than one dealing with the early days in British Columbia.

WHEN WORLDS COLLIDE

By EDWIN BALMER & PAUL WYLE

CHAPTER XXIII

Autumn had set in, but it was like no Autumn the world had ever known before. The weather remained unnaturally hot. The skies were still hazy. An enormous amount of fine volcanic dust remained suspended in the upper air currents.

Vulcanists had enumerated, before the disturbance of the First Passage, some four hundred and thirty active volcanic vents. Counting the cones which had been considered dormant, there had been several thousand. All these, it now was calculated, had become active. Tropical rains, lavvy with volcanic dust, fell in torrents. Steam and vapors, as well as lavas and dust, were pouring from innumerable vents out from under the cracked and fissured crust of the world.

The neighboring vent, opened in the vicinity of St. Paul, supplied Hendron with more than the necessary amount of the new metal, which could be machined but which withstood even the heat of the atomic blast. Hendron had not waited for his explorers to recover. On the day after the reading of the diaries, he had flown with another pilot, found a source of the strange material from the centre of the earth, and he had loaded the plane. Repeated trips had provided more than enough metal for the tubes of the atomic engines.

The engine makers could not melt the metal by any heat they applied; they could not fuse it, but they could cut it, and by patient machining, shape it into lining of tubes which, at last, endured the frightful temperatures of the atom releasing its power.

The problem of the engine for the Space Ship was solved. This transformed the psychology of the camp. And now there ensued a period of frantic impatience for the return of the Bronson bodies! For the camp, in its new hysteria, had become perfectly confident that the Space Ship must succeed in making its desperate journey. The camp was resolved—that part of it which should be chosen—to go. Tony kept on at his work, tormented by a lecture of his own. Together with Eliot James and Vanderbilt, Ransdell had now recovered from his wounds.

For his part in the great adventure, the pilot would become popular, even if he had not also proved the discoverer of the metal that would not melt. That by itself would have lifted him above every other man in the camp.

Not above Hendron in authority, for the flyer never in the slightest attempted to assert authority. Ransdell became, indeed, even more retiring and reserved than before, and so the women of the camp, especially the younger ones, worshipped him.

When Eve walked with Ransdell as she often did, Tony became a potential killer. In reaction, he could not help but feel that he was the hysteria working in him—his fear and terror at facing almost inevitable and terrible death, and at knowing that Eve also must be annihilated. It was these emotions that at moments almost broke out in a demonstration against Ransdell.

When Tony was with Eve, she seemed to him the civilized creature of cultured and sophisticated society, and more an impulsive and primitive woman.

Her very features seemed altered; bolder, her eyes darker and larger, her lips softer, her hair filled with a brighter fire. She was stronger, also, and more.

"We're going to get over," she said to him one day.

"Yes," agreed Tony. No one, now openly doubted it, whatever he hid in his heart. "How do you—?" he began, and then made his challenge less directly personal by adding: "How do you girls now the idea of ceasing to be individuals and becoming biological representatives of the human race—after we get across?"

He saw Eve flush, and the warmth in her stirred him. "We talk about it, of course," she replied. "And—suppose we'll do it."

"Breed the race, you mean," Tony continued mercilessly. "Reproduce the type—mating with whoever is best to insure the strongest and best children for the place, and to establish a new generation of the greatest possible variety from the few individuals which we can hope to land safely. That's the programme."

"Yes," said Eve, "that's the purpose."

For a minute he did not speak, thinking, his hands clenched; then: "Would you care?"

"Care, Tony?" she began, her face flooded with color. She checked herself. "No one must care, we have sworn not to care—to conquer caring. And we must train ourselves to it now, you know. We can't suddenly stop caring about such things, when we find ourselves on Bronson Beta, unless we've at least made a start at downing selfishness here."

"You call it selfishness?"

"I know it's not the word, Tony, but I've no word for it. Morals aren't the word, either. What are morals, fundamentally, Tony? Morals are nothing but the code of conduct required of an individual in the best interests of the group of which he's a member. So what 'moral' here wouldn't be moral at all on Bronson Beta!"

"Damn Bronson Beta! Have you no feeling for me?"

"Tony, is there any sense in making more difficult for ourselves what we may have to do?"

"Yes, damn it," Tony burst out again. "I want it difficult. I want it possible for you!"

Wanderers from other places began to discover the camp. While they were few in number, it was possible to feed and clothe and even shelter them, at least temporarily. Then there was no choice but to give them a meal and send them away. But daily the dealings with the desperate, reckless groups became more and more ugly and hazardous.

Tony directed the extension of the protection of the camp by a barrier of barbed wire half a mile beyond the buildings. There were four gates which he sentinelled and where he turned back all vagrant visitors. If this was cruelty, he had no alternative but chaos. Let the barriers be broken, and the settlement would be overwhelmed.

But bigger and uglier bands continued to come. It became a commonplace to turn them back at the bayonet point and under the threat of machine guns. It became unsafe for any one—man or woman—to leave the enclosure except by airplane.

Rifles cracked from concealments, and bullets sang by; some found their marks.

Ransdell scouted the surroundings from the air, and Tony and three others, unharmed and disheveled, crept forth at night and mingled with the men besieging the camp. They discovered that Hendron's group was hopelessly outnumbered.

"What saves us for the time," Tony reported to Hendron on his return, "is that they're not yet united. They are gangs and groups which fight savagely enough among themselves, but in general tolerate each other. They join on only one thing. They want to get in here. They want to get us—and our women."

"They talk about smashing in here. They'd soon be killing each other in here, after they wiped us out. That desire—and hate of us—is their sole force of cohesion. If they get in, we'll see something new in savagery."

The attack began on the following night. It began with gunfire raking the barriers. A siren on top of the power-house sounded a wholly unnecessary warning: "Women to cover! Men to arms!"

Tony, directing the disposal of his men, longed for the moon—the moon, shattered by Bronson Alpha, that survived tonight only in fragments too scattered and distant to lend any light. The stars had to suffice. The stars and the searchlights fixed on the roofs of the laboratories nearest to the three fronts of the encampment.

One blazed out—and instantly became a target for a machine gun in the woods. For a full minute, the glaring white beam swung steadily, coolly back and forth, picking out of the night men's figures. Then the beam tipped up and ceased to move.

The next moment, the great glaring pencil was snuffed out. The machine gun in the woods had got the light crew first, and then the light itself.

Other machine guns and rifles, firing at random but ceaselessly, raked the entire camp. Tony stumbled over friends that had fallen.

Young Woman Is Missing; Police Making Inquiry

MISS STELLA NICKLET, of the Waverley Rooms, has asked the city police and detective departments to assist in a search for her sister, who has been missing since August 20, when she arrived in Victoria enroute to Shannan Lake. The young woman is described as twenty-two years of age, five feet six inches tall, 140 pounds, dark brown hair, and sallow complexion. She is asked to communicate with the police as her sister wishes to see her.

Scientists, great men, murdered in mass!

A defending machine gun showed its spatter of flashes off to the right. Tony ran to it, and dropped down beside the gun crew. He had to have a shot at them himself. Outside the wire barriers, there was silence, and it seemed Tony far more than a continuance of the surrounding fire.

The two remaining searchlights blazed out, one sweeping the woods before Tony. The glare caught a hundred men before they could drop. Tony savagely held the trigger back, praying to catch them with his bullets.

Machine guns were spitting from the woods once more, and both lights were blinded.

A rocket rasped its yellow streak into the air and burst above in a shower of stars. Unquestionably a signal!

A second rocket rasped up and broke its spatter of stars. Now the camp held its fire and listened. It heard—Tony heard, only a whistle, like a traffic whistle, or the whistle that summoned squads to attacking order.

A third rocket went up.

"Here they come!" some one said.

and Tony wondered how he knew it. Soaked in perspiration, Tony glared into the blackness of the woods. There must be a thousand men on this bit of the front alone, more than all the men in the camp. Tony heard his voice bawling over the tumult: "Get 'em! Get 'em! Don't let 'em by!"

THAT WORD "ABOMINATE"

To say that we abominate some-thing is merely to say, though in a much stronger way, that we dislike it. A much more colorful significance, however, is written into the story of this word.

We have abominated from the Latin "abominari"—ab, away, plus omen, a foreboding. Literally this was "to turn away from an evil omen." That is the kind of aversion the ancients expressed in their past participle, "abominatus," from which, directly, we have abominate.

OLD BRIDGES TO BE TORN DOWN

Ladysmith City Will Take Them Over From Public Works Department

LADYSMITH, Sept. 28.—In the absence of Mayor Mason, Alderman Giovando presided over the regular council meeting last evening.

The council tender to take over the two bridges on the abandoned section of the Inland Highway at Stewart's Hill, was accepted by the public works department, who notified the city to assume complete responsibility in the matter of removal of the structures, and safeguarding of all approaches. Demolition work will commence immediately and the salvaged timber will be used in connection with the various civic activities proceeding in the city.

Warning notices have been posted, and barriers have been placed at all approaches to the ravines connected by the bridges.

Demolition and removal of the wooden bridges will add to, rather than detract from, the charm of the Holland Creek ravines, although this favorite walk of local residents will be considerably modified by the change.

In connection with the sewer committee's report, although conditions are considerably improved in the sewer system, work will proceed until all danger of flooding is eliminated. The committee was authorized to purchase a cleaner and root-cutter operated by hydrant pressure, and this machine is expected to rectify a considerable amount of the trouble in the system.

WORK FOR TAX IS SUGGESTION

Province May Seek Law for Modified Plan of Rural Tax Relief

Modification of statutory labor laws of the province to permit bona fide settlers working out their taxes on roads and in other public works wherever practicable, a policy touched on briefly by Premier Toiminé in his election manifesto this week, was amplified by the Premier yesterday, in response to questions.

Premier Toiminé recited the great difficulty settlers in some areas have had in meeting living expenses, and the hardship caused by the piling up of tax bills, arrears and interest, in times when the settlers have little ready money with which to pay such charges.

WORK OUT TAX

It was proposed, he said, to introduce legislation which would permit of discretionary use of the principle already applied in Eastern Canada, where settlers may work out their taxes, if there is necessary work to be done and where this means can be applied. Of necessity, use of the privilege would be sparing.

In the case of British Columbia, hard times have redoubled appeals from settlers for some remedy of this nature, particularly in rural areas, where cash to pay tax and other accounts is none too plentiful. What the Province would lose in one respect, the Premier stated, it would gain in another, through provision of work that would otherwise have to be accomplished out of other funds.

It is not contended that the system could become general, else Provincial revenues could never be collected, but a modified use of the plan is proposed.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

FLU CAN DO REAL DAMAGE TO YOUR HEART

When the flu epidemic of 1918 and 1919 swept the country, it was not difficult to have the patients and the families of patients observe every little rule or bit of advice suggested by the doctor. The number of deaths and the great many cases of prostration so alarmed everybody that every possible precaution was taken to avoid any after-effects.

Since that time the flu has been affecting thousands of people yearly, but not in as severe a form as in 1918 and 1919. Thus, it happens now that as the attacks of flu are somewhat milder, less thought is given to them as the patient is not confined to bed very long and is soon back at work.

Now flu is flu whether in mild or severe form and unless all cases are treated as severe cases, serious and permanent damage will be done to the heart in a great many cases. Dr. H. M. Fletcher, London, emphasizes that great care must be taken after the fever has gone down. Relapses are common and a mild first attack may be followed by a dangerous relapse.

A useful rule is that, after the temperature has fallen, the patient should be kept in bed for as many days as the fever lasted. Thus, if he had a temperature for four or five days, he should remain in bed for four or five days after the fever leaves. This is hard to do with both children and adults but must be done if damage to the heart is to be avoided.

An attack of flu is often followed by general debility, depression of spirits, and sleeplessness, which may persist for months.

Should any sign that the heart is involved occur, then the period of rest in bed should be prolonged. Even for weeks.

When the patient is able to get about, every precaution must be taken to avoid over-exertion, either mental or physical. He should not resume his usual work until he has completely recovered.

The thought, then, is that although flu is common and lasts but a few days, it is capable of doing real damage, and the patient should be treated during and after the illness with the same care as with pneumonia or typhoid fever or other serious ailment.

"Why do you get up so early?"

"To get downtown to find a parking place."

"What do you do with so much time on your hands?"

"Oh, I sometimes take a trolley home and have breakfast."

are actual humorous little bits found in examination papers, essays, etc., by teachers.

The Aztecs are a race of South American savages.

If present-day building were not so slipshod we would find our cities full of modern buildings that had outlasted the Roman structures.

Not until Enoch Arden died would he tell those around him who he was.

BOND EXCHANGE IS AUTHORIZED

Councillor A. D. Crease, chairman of the finance committee of the city council, at a meeting of last night, detailed the art of an exchange of securities proposed to be made in connection with the sinking fund negotiations of the municipal debt.

A Dominion Government block of railway bonds amounting to $10,000, maturing in 1960, will be exchanged for a corresponding amount in Canadian currency bearing date 1933. The exchange will be made at par value of the pound sterling, $4.86 2-3.

Under the plan the holding would be in dollar values and not subject to any change in exchange fluctuations of the pound sterling. The interest rate in each case was the same. The deal was approved by the council.

What Today Means

"LIBRA"

If September 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m., from 2 to 3:30 p.m. and from 8 to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 9 to 10 a.m., from 3 to 4 p.m. and from 9:45 to 10:25 p.m. You will probably lean over backwards to do someone a good turn on this day and more than likely you will receive a rebuff for your pains. Take special care not to injure anyone's pride in your offers of assistance; it may lead to lost friendship. Babies will tend to be fretful and difficult to handle. The child born on this September 29 will probably be a little one of considerable charm, one who will quickly win its way into the affection of all people. Will prove an elevating influence in the lives of its parents; naturally refined and appreciative of the finest and most beautiful things of life.

If September 29 is the date of your birth, you are more than likely a person who leads a free and easy life. You are a very moral person, but without thinking you do most indiscreet things and leave yourself wide open to the criticism of a world that is quick to take advantage of the failings of others. You like people and you like to have a crowd about you. Quite characteristic of most people who are genuinely fond of others and big-hearted, you are not at all critical of your friends and on more than one occasion you will find that you have erred in your judgment, but this disclosure will come too late. You are a spender, you give freely and you like to do things in the grand manner. You are an adventurous person. Born on September 29, you are a hard worker and the chances are that you will get into some business that you can really enthuse over. You like to share your triumphs and successes with others.

You are ever ready to meet the emergency by giving of your time and money to the limit. There is something of the promoter in your make-up. You like to start things going, you like to see things take form and get into action, but then you lose interest. You are not the person to carry on in a routine way, after the pioneering has been done. You are changeable in your loves, and your love at the age of thirty may not be your love when you turn fifty.

taxed to its limit for the first evening performance last night.

"Change Your Luck" is a fast-moving, colorful and engaging stage spectacle. Humorous, gay and with entrancing music, native songs and imitable dancing, it provoked riotous applause from the audience. One of the finest colored jazz bands in America paints the musical picture, while a chorus of twenty-four dazzling beauties dance and sing their way through the twenty-two scenes in which the revue is presented.

There are performances each afternoon and twice each evening during the engagement, which will terminate on Saturday.

The film fare is "I Love That Man," a stirring drama, co-starring Edmund Lowe and Nancy Carroll, together with a programme of interesting short subjects and semi-features.

DOMINION If it is news when a THEATRE man bites a dog.

Robert Woolsey deserves front-page headlines for the strange feat he performs in the midst of the dark and treacherous jungle which he and Bert Wheeler invade in their latest Columbia
comedy, "So This Is Africa," showing today, at the Dominion Theatre.

For Woolsey goes one better and bites a huge fly that lights on his neck and starts to drill an oil
well through his skin.

THEATRE One of the most amusing episodes in "The Midshipmaid," now at the Capitol Theatre, is where Edwin Lawrence, as the bandmaster of marines, conducts his band in two sections. It is a joy to watch him at the task, as he can only see one section at a time. One-half thinks that the overtone is Mendelssohn's
"Spring Song," and the other half thinks it is Tchaikovsky's "1812."

Without seeing the scene, it is difficult to believe that a band could be so funny, and that without any buffoonery of performance.

EMPIRE Marvellous harmony,

THEATRE and a good chorus sums up "the colored musical revue
"Change Your Luck," which is now showing at the Empire Theatre.

Synopsis in the keynote, with Curtis Mosby and his Dixieland Blue Blowers providing the musical accompaniment, and with the usual lively numbers and Negro spirituals predominating.

PLAYHOUSE Jesse L. Lasky's second production for
Fox Film, "The Warrior's Husband," is the current
attraction at the Playhouse Theatre.

It is the adaptation by Ralph Spence
and Sonya Levian of the successful
stage play by Julian Thompson.

Elissa Landi, Marjorie Rameau and Ernest Truex have the featured roles in this production, which depicts the hilarious comedy of a
period when women ruled the roost
and men had all they could do to
remain clinging vines.

ENCHANTING MUSICAL
FILM TO SHOW HERE

"Waltz Time in Vienna," the
brilliant musical romance that will
be brought to the Capitol screen,
Saturday, contains in the production several scenes that are more than usually outstanding. One is a glittering ballroom scene, in which
the heroine, portrayed by Evelyn Laye, disguised and masked, re-
captures the affections of her husband, who mistakes her for an unknown countess.

Evelyn Laye makes a charming Rosamunde and sings the hitting melodies from Strauss with brilliance. She is supported by an unusually fine cast of singers and actors.

Sidney

The Sidney Social Club held the first card social of its season in the Guido and Scout Hall, Sidney.

Military five hundred was played at twelve tables, the prize winners being: First, Mrs. H. Clow, Mrs.
McClelland, Mr. Wallis and Mr. A.
N. MacAulay; second, Mr. and Mrs. T. Lidgate, Mrs. T. Hayward and Mr. T. Coward. Prizes were won by Mrs. Carlson, Mrs. H. Clow and Mrs. T. Coward. At the completion of the card play, Mesdames
A. N. MacAulay, T. Lidgate and W.
Hadley, hostesses for the evening, served refreshments. Old-time dancing closed the evening. Among the proposed activities of the club are a single-handed cribbage tournament for a silver cup, for the period from October 1 to December 31.
Mr. Stewart Hill is in charge of the tournament. A circulating library has been started for the use of members and visitors. Miss L.
Wood is librarian. The club proposes to give a ten-pound turkey at Christmas to both the lady and gentleman making the highest aggregate, play to terminate December 19. Socials will be held every Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

The North Saanich Service Club
will hold its annual banquet on Saturday, October 14. Admission will be restricted to members of the club.

TRIPLE WEDDING

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 28
(CP).—Three sisters, Florence, Loretta and Jessie Whelan, became brides today in a triple wedding at St. Charles Church. The sisters, dressed identically and acting in turn as attendants for one another, were married to Victor Coburn, of Bridgeport; Edward Wells, of Great Barrington, Mass.; and Joseph Gilmarth, of Bridgeport. Members of the bridal party left together from the home of John W. Whelan, father of the brides. When they reached the church, a crowd estimated at 1,500 persons had gathered.

Advance of Television Surprising

TELEVISION programmes are going out daily from a Toronto studio and have been creating wide interest. Here we see three foremost in the sporting world who have been taking part in the programme. Left to right, Win Barron, radio announcer; Bobby Pearce, newly-crowned professional champion sculler, and Foster Hewitt, sports announcer.

COLUMBIA Wilhelmina Von Os-terman is the authentic name of Raquel Torres, charming dark-eyed, Spanish-German screen player. She was born in Hermosillo, Mexico, twenty-two years ago. Her earliest childhood ambition was to become a nun. Miss Torres has a prominent part in the Columbia film, "The Woman I Sole," which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre.

PLAYHOUSE Jesse L. Lasky's second production for
Fox Film, "The
Warrior's Husband," is the current
attraction at the Playhouse Theatre.

It is the adaptation by Ralph Spence
and Sonya Levian of the successful
stage play by Julian Thompson.

Elissa Landi, Marjorie Rameau and Ernest Truex have the featured
roles in this production, which depicts the hilarious comedy of a
period when women ruled the roost
and men had all they could do to
remain clinging vines.

FILM TO SHOW HERE

"Waltz Time in Vienna," the
brilliant musical romance that will
be brought to the Capitol screen,
Saturday, contains in the production several scenes that are more than usually outstanding. One is a glittering ballroom scene, in which
the heroine, portrayed by Evelyn Laye, disguised and masked, re-
captures the affections of her husband, who mistakes her for an unknown countess.

Evelyn Laye makes a charming Rosamunde and sings the hitting
melodies from Strauss with brilliance. She is supported by an unusually fine cast of singers and
actors.

have many fine achievements to their credit, the chief of them the safe evacuation from Kabul of nearly 600 refugees, representing eleven nationalities, during the Afghan civil war of 1928-29. In response to urgent requests for assistance the "troop-carriers" were flown 2,500 miles from Baghdad to Peshawar in two days. Flying day after day over the terrible mountain country of the frontier and Afghanis-

"flying" country in the world—the big machines brought the refugees to security without a single casualty.

EXTREME MOBILITY
Twenty-two fully-armed infantrymen can be carried in the cabin of the Victoria craft. Normal cruising range is 770 miles in still air, a distance which amply explains the extreme mobility at need of these heavy transport planes.

The opportunity of seeing and hearing the Post Laureate in the pulpit attracted an immense congregation to St. Martin's-in-the-Fields on a Monday evening in August.

The occasion was the celebration of the discovery by Sir Donald Ross, thirty-six years ago, which led to the conquest of malaria. The Christian World states that "John Masfield's face carried an expression of shy amazement as he viewed the overwhelming concourse from the pulpit." In a clear, strong voice he sketched the work and character of Sir Donald as "an extraordinary man, having many elements of the divine."

SPORT WRITERS CHOOSE BIG LEAGUE ALL-STARS

Cronin, Hubbell And Chuck Klein Given Big Votes

Trio Placed at Top of Respective Positions in Associated Press Poll—Ruth Gains Only Three Votes for Right Field Position—Bill Dickey Best Catcher

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—The outstanding three major league ball players of the year, on the basis of final returns in the Associated Press all-star poll, are Manager Joe Cronin, of Washington Senators; Southpaw Carl Hubbell, of New York Giants, and Slugging Chuck Klein, of the Phillies.

They dominate the balloting by sports editors and writers. In the total of eighty-nine votes cast, Cronin is named by eighty-eight for the all-star shortstop role, Hubbell by eighty-four for the No. 1 pitching position and Klein by eighty-one for the post of duty in right field, where no longer is Babe Ruth even a challenger of the Phillies' flogger.

The passing of Ruth from the all-star picture, with only three votes on his behalf for old times' sake, is one of the year's outstanding developments, along with the fact only one Yankee, Catcher Bill Dickey, will place in the line-up.

Seven American Leaguers and five National League stars make up the first team in the Associated Press consensus. The pennant-winning Giants and Senators each placed two men.

Hubbell's battery-mate, Gus Mancuso, squares into the second backstopping job by a narrow margin over Mickey Cochrane, of the Athletics, and Virgil Davis, of the Phillies.

At first base, the great Jimmie Foxx, powerhouse of the Athletics, compiled a 3 to 1 margin over Gehrig in the voting. Bill Terry, of the Giants, placed third.

Apparently on the strength of his harder hitting this year, Charley Gehrig, of the Tigers, had a 2 to 1 remarkable margin over Frankie Frisch, the Cardinals' manager, for second base position.

CRONIN AT SHORTSTOP
Cronin was voted into shortstop position. Pie Traynor, the Pirates' veteran, won over a National League rival, Pepper Martin, at third, although the Pirates' showing is a remarkable tribute to his performance in his first season at this position.

The outfield of Al Simmons, of the White Sox; Wally Berger, of the Braves, and Klein, proved easy for the experts. No one else was even close to this trio.

Similarly the selection of Lefty Grove, of the A's, as the pitching mate of Hubbell and Crowder, was decisive. The old fireballer of the White Elephants is still conceded to be the American League's outstanding pitcher. Cantwell, Whitehill and Dean were next in popular favor among the flingers.

ALL-STAR LINE-UP

Here's the all-star first team line-up, showing votes cast and current unofficial batting or pitching marks:

Super Stars Will Be Missing From Big Ball Series

Neither Giants Nor Senators Boast of Any Ruth, Foxx or Gehrig on Line-Up—Bill Terry and Goose Goslin Expected to Be Factors

By EDWARD J. NEEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—

There aren't many convictions about this coming world series battle between the Senators and the Giants that Managers Bill Terry and Joe Cronin hold in common, but upon this one point they do agree.

The total absence of a genuine ball game wallop of the Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Al Simmons, Jimmie Foxx breed in either outfield, levels the two teams off to such an extent that six games and possibly the full seven will be needed to decide this championship.

"For the first time in many years," says Terry, "we don't have to worry about guys like Ruth and Gehrig, who win series all alone. All we've got to bet is a good ball team, not a couple of supermen. I expect it will take seven of the most exciting games in the history of the series."

Cronin agrees, there will be no need for dwellers in the streets beyond Cogan's Bluff to nail on the storm windows to save the property when the firing starts Tuesday in the Polo Grounds. "But we'll hit any kind of pitching the Giants throw at us for all the distance we'll need," he said, "though it won't surprise me if the series goes six or seven games. Only the breaks and lots of them can bring off four straight this year."

TWO TRIED VETERANS

The play-off on previous world series experience doesn't figure to be very heavy, with only a half dozen veterans of championship warfare in the ranks of the New York and Washington regulars, but two of the big guns, Bill Terry and Leon (Goose) Goslin, have brilliant reputations to sustain.

Terry, successor to John McGraw at the Giants' helm, did about all you could ask of one ordinary working man in the series of 1924, one of the most dramatic in baseball history, when he got into five games against the Senators, hit safely six times in fourteen appearances at the plate, batted out one home run, scored three times, and wound up with a batting average of .429.

Goslin, soaring high, played every minute of the seven-game series and did even more execution, but at a slower pace. In thirty-four times at bat, Goslin gathered eleven hits, three of them homers, scored four times, drove in seven runs and averaged .344. The next year, against the Pirates in another seven-game series, the Goose went to bat twenty-six times, batted out eight hits, again getting three home runs, driving in six and scoring six.

William Burton Chosen Head of Badminton Club

William Burton was elected president of the St. Matthias Badminton Club for the ensuing year at the annual meeting, held recently in the clubrooms. Miss Vivian Whedon was chosen secretary-treasurer, while George Love was re-elected games captain for the season. The executive committee follows: S. Jackson, Mrs. Twelves and Miss Fielding. Practically all of last year's members rejoined, while new faces will be seen when the season opens Wednesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

New Method Takes Over Franchise of Cardinals Cagers

Officials of the New Method Laundry announced yesterday that they had taken over the franchise of the Cardinals basketball squad and will compete in the senior "B" division of the Victoria and District League. The team was originally the Centennial, winners of the senior "C" section last season. The club held a meeting last night and appointed Clare Belcher manager. Although the boys are stepping into faster company, they have a fast-moving quintette and should make the going tough for the opposition. Belcher has already signed all of last year's players, including Douglas Crawford, Eddie Viggers, Harold Paulding, Ernie Halse, Jimmy Norrington and Bill Blair.

Stole Umbrellas During Heat Wave

LONDON (CP)—A man who had stolen twenty-seven umbrellas from a shop at the height of London's hottest heat wave was sentenced to prison for fifteen months at hard labor. His counsel at the trial remarked: "He seems to have been something of an optimist." The prisoner's explanation was that he had taken to drink because his wife was always nagging, and while "under the influence" grabbed the umbrellas.

"TO GET OUT OF BED ON THE WRONG SIDE"

"You must have got out of bed on the wrong side this morning!"

How familiar that saying in our modern speech to signify that someone is in a bad temper or an unpleasant mood! It is the left side, of course, that is the "wrong side"—from the old superstition that it was bad luck to put the left foot down first in getting out of bed.

We have this expression from the old English play, "Gammer Gurton's Needle" by Bishop (John) Still. It dates 1566.

BODY FOUND AT WATER'S EDGE

A. G. McDonald Believed to Have Suffered Heart Attack on Beach

The body of Andrew Goodfellow McDonald, 615 Linden Avenue, was found lying on the beach at Clover Point, just above high water mark, late yesterday afternoon. He was lying on his left side and his right side was wet from the spray. It is believed by police that he died of heart failure.

BORN IN ONTARIO
Mr. McDonald was born sixty-seven years ago at Chesham, Ontario. In 1884 he went to Napinka, Manitoba, where he resided until 1920, when he retired and made his home at Brandon. He came to Victoria four years ago. He is survived by his widow; and two sisters, Mrs. Charles Colville, Calgary, and Mrs. T. R. Lamont, of Melita, Manitoba. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

MAKE DISCOVERY
Discovery of the man was made by Norman D'Arcy, 77 Moss Street; Arthur Baines, 88 Moss Street, and John Naismith, 88 Wellington Street. Police learned from Mr. Baines that he had spoken to Mr. McDonald at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and that deceased at that time had complained of heart trouble.

He was collecting logs for the fire place at the time. Near his body was found a car, which was identified as that of Mr. McDonald's.

The remains were removed to McCall Bros. Funeral Parlor, and Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart notified. Dr. Hart will determine whether an inquest will be necessary.

Little Bedtime Stories

Peter Rabbit's Tongue Trips Him Up

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Alas! alas! Woe, woe is me! Such tricky things as tongues can do. Such tricky things when used in haste. I often wish did naught but taste.

You know how it is with tongues. Of course you do. Tongues will say things they've no business to say, and then old Mr. Trouble is right on hand full of business. There is nothing in the Great World so dangerous as a tongue used carelessly. Peter Rabbit knows all about it. But for that matter so do the rest of us.

Peter's tongue has tripped him up a great many times. It certainly has. Of course, I don't mean that his feet have actually tripped by his tongue. Peter's tongue isn't long enough for that. As a matter of fact, Peter's tongue isn't very long. It isn't long enough for him to let it hang out of his mouth when he is running. But he has a habit of doing so.

When I say that Peter's tongue has tripped him up, that is just a way of speaking. It means simply that he has got into trouble by what he has said, or he has been laughed at, or has been made to feel foolish. Peter's tongue has tripped him up a great many times. It certainly has. Of course, I don't mean that his feet have actually tripped by his tongue. Peter's tongue isn't long enough for that. As a matter of fact, Peter's tongue isn't very long. It isn't long enough for him to let it hang out of his mouth when he is running. But he has a habit of doing so.

Peter had gone out on the Green Meadows for a bite or two of sweet clover, when he should come along looking for clover seed but Danny Meadow Mouse. Being the best of friends, they indulged in a bit of gossip while they lunched. Peter on the leaves and Danny on the seeds of the sweet clover. As usual, Danny admitted Peter's long hind legs. Danny always has wished that he was a jumper instead of a runner.

"It must be perfectly splendid to be able to jump the way you can, Peter," said he wistfully. "Yes," said Peter carelessly, "it is very nice. I'm rather proud of my jumping. I don't suppose there is anyone who lives on the ground who can jump as far as I can for his size. I was that cousin of mine who was here now. He would show you how to jump."

The twinkling little eyes of Danny Meadow Mouse sparkled with mischief. "If I had the legs of one of my cousins I would show you what real jumping is," said Danny. "I venture to say that I would jump twice as far as you despite my small size. I wish that cousin of mine were here now. He would show you how to jump."

Peter grinned good-naturedly. "I wish he were here," said he. "I would like to see the Mouse who can show me anything about jumping. I really would like to see him." "What did you say?" This was a new voice, a thin, squeaky voice very much like the voice of Danny Meadow Mouse. Instead, he saw a perfect stranger, a very neat, trim, pretty little person.

"Hello! Who are you?" exclaimed Peter, staring very rudely. The pretty little stranger looked frightened. It was plain to see that he was very timid, more timid even than Danny Meadow Mouse, despite the fact that he had spoken first. It was also plain to see that he was a relative of Danny Meadow Mouse. He was smaller than Danny, and wore a sleek little coat of reddish brown and a white waistcoat. His face was sharp and his hands were small and dainty. His hind legs were long, somewhat after the manner of Peter's own hind legs, but Peter overlooked this in his surprise at the length of the stranger's tail. You know Peter is always interested in tails. This was the longest, slimmest tail for the size of the possessor that Peter had ever seen. Peter couldn't believe that it belonged to this pretty little stranger.

"Where did you get that?" he demanded so abruptly that the stranger backed away hurriedly. "Where did I get what?" he squeaked faintly. "That tail," replied Peter. "Old Mother Nature gave it to him. Where did you suppose he got it?" broke in Danny Meadow Mouse. "By the way, let me make you acquainted with my cousin, Nimbieheels, the Jumping Mouse. He is the one I meant when I said that I wished I had legs like one of my cousins. He can show you how to jump, Peter."

Peter looked at Nimbieheels more closely than before and for the first time noticed the long hind legs. He knew right away that these meant that Nimbieheels was a jumper. Still Nimbieheels was such a tiny fellow that Peter hadn't the least idea that he could jump anything at all like himself.

"Oh," said Peter with a very grand air, "I have no doubt he is a very good jumper, but I hardly think he can do anything about jumping." "Try him and see," said a new voice. It was the voice of Old Mr. Toad. "Try him and see."

"We dare you to! We dare you to a jumping match with little Nimbieheels!" cried the Merry Little

"Hello! Who are you?" exclaimed Peter, staring very rudely.

Breases, dancing around Peter in great excitement. Timid little Nimbieheels began to look uneasy. "I—I don't believe I care to jump against Peter Rabbit," said he in his funny, squeaky voice.

"You mean you are afraid to because you know you can't out-jump me," retorted Peter rather sharply. "Come on. I'm not afraid to jump with any Mouse who thinks he can jump. Come on and I'll show you how it is done."

As he spoke Peter glanced at Old Mr. Toad. There was a queer sort of pleased look in Mr. Toad's beautiful eyes. Peter looked at Danny Meadow Mouse. In Danny's eyes was the same sort of look. Johnny Chuck, who had come up in time to hear what had been said, looked as if he were enjoying a secret joke. As for the Merry Little Breases, they were dancing from pure joy.

Slowly, it began to enter Peter's head that there was a joke he didn't understand. He began to suspect that his boasting tongue had tripped him up. Could it be possible that Nimbieheels could out-jump him? Suddenly Peter somehow didn't care about jumping. He remembered something important to attend to in the dear Old Briar Patch and said he must be going.

"Not until you show Nimbieheels how to jump!" cried all his friends mischievously. And in spite of all he could do or say Peter had to stay.

HUDSON'S BAY HEAD EXPECTED

Major P. Ashley Cooper Arriving From Mainland on Saturday Afternoon

Major P. Ashley Cooper, governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, and director of the Bank of England, will probably fly over from the Mainland on Saturday afternoon. It was indicated yesterday by Mrs. Ashley Cooper, who preceded him to Victoria, and is at present registered at the Empress Hotel.

Major Ashley Cooper, who has just completed a trip across the continent visiting the various branches of the company, takes to the air on every possible occasion, being keenly air-minded. In this way he is able to cove a tremendous amount of territory, especially on the prairies and in the North country, where the Hudson's Bay posts are widely scattered.

When he visited the Dominion last year, Major Cooper used planes to make the trip into the Peace River country, covering ground in a few days that would have taken months by ordinary transportation methods.

Included in the governor's party is George W. Allan, K.C., M.A., chairman of the Canadian committee of the Hudson's Bay Company. Mr. Allan is expected to arrive in the city today.

V. L. Denton Contends Three Cents a Hundred Between Domestic and Export Rates Enough

Taking the position that the Maritime Provinces of the Dominion, British Columbia, in common with the Maritime Provinces in Eastern Canada, are suffering from a common injustice, that of the high freight rates on grain for domestic purposes, as compared with what is charged by the railways for that product when used for export, V. L. Denton, principal of the Normal School, gave an interesting address to the Rotary Club yesterday.

Mr. Denton ridiculed the argument that was sometimes put forward that the reduction in the domestic rate would ruin the railways of the Dominion.

Tracing the history of the Dominion from before the days of Confederation, Mr. Denton showed that the Maritime Provinces of Eastern Canada had been gradually losing their population. In recent years these provinces had, in many instances, not been holding their own in population, many of whom had come to the West. The argu-

the freight rates on grain used for domestic purposes was that the export trade in flour of the millers on the prairies and in Eastern Canada would be ruined.

WON'T IMPORT WHEAT

Mr. Denton could see no reason why Vancouver, Victoria and Halifax and Saint John should not have mills as well as the cities along the St. Lawrence waterway. The speaker would like to see the Maritimes import wheat from Australia, and then see what would be done about it.

The basic industry of British Columbia, said the speaker, would soon be agriculture. Canada had in late years ceased to be an exporting country in the matter of agricultural products, such as butter, cheese and bacon. In Ontario and Quebec along the St. Lawrence basin the rates on grain for domestic uses was only three cents a hundred higher than for export trade.

The late Frank Oliver, as a member

Good Way to Stop Acid Stomach

ber of the railway commission, had given his decision in favor of the reduction of the rates to not more than three cents difference, with respect to the two classes to the Pacific Coast. Unless such a schedule were adopted, Mr. Denton expressed the opinion that British Columbia would remain an importer of dairy and related products.

In a general way, a dairying district was not one that raised its own grain for feeding. In British Columbia and in the eastern Maritimes, it should be possible to import the grain feed to stock at a fair rate from the prairies. As it was at present prairie wheat could be brought in Shanghai as cheap as it could in Victoria. Canadian grain should not be available to any other country at a lower rate than it was in Canada itself, he said. There was a fight ahead for the reduction in this freight rate, but it would have to be won.

Mr. Denton also alluded to the importance of the development of the coal trade between the Nova Scotia mines and Ontario and Quebec, instead of sending out of these parts $46,000,000 in the year to the United States. The latter country had given warning that by 1950 the anthracite supplies from that country's beds would be exhausted.

Explorer—Have mercy! I have a wife and five children to provide for. Cannibal—So have I!
